Adhesive bonding instead of screws and rivets

Adhesive bonding has become increasingly important as a fastening technology. Technical advances in adhesive tapes and adhesives have opened up numerous new applications in fastening, assembly and joining technology that are often significantly more efficient and cost-effective than screws or rivets.

Benefit from our expertise

Finding the best solution from the multitude of adhesive tapes is almost impossible without specialised knowledge. As specialists in technical adhesive tapes, we take the time to advise you individually and personally. Contact us at any time, we will be happy to help you!

Prototyping, small series and series production

Thanks to our many years of experience, we offer customised solutions for many industries. But finding new adhesive solutions is also one of our daily tasks. To this end, our specialists analyse your application-specific requirements in our laboratories and develop initial solutions as prototypes or small series. We are also happy to test the results together on your premises until we have found the optimum solution for you. We then move on to series production.

More efficiency through customised solutions

WE CUSTOMISE YOUR ADHESIVE TAPE.

Every technical application has its own specific requirements for an adhesive tape - and this does not just apply to the pure material properties of the product.

It is much more important to find a solution consisting of the right material and the right type of customisation for you and thus offer a solution that is optimally adapted to the customer's needs.

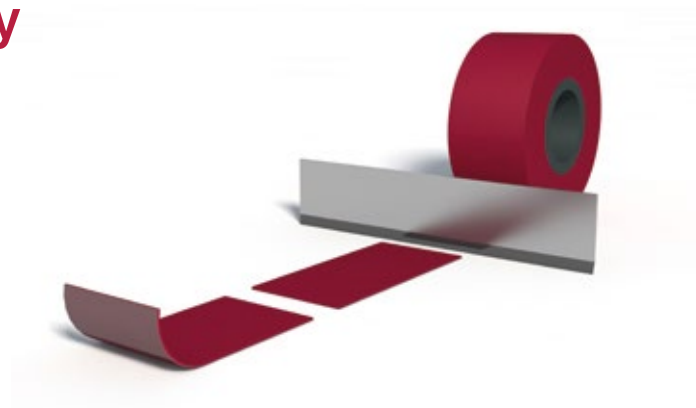

And that's no problem for us: you tell us your requirements and we manufacture a product that is customised to your specific needs. Thanks to our modern technical systems and experienced employees, we can guarantee you the highest quality and precision.

Our aspiration

CERTIFIED QUALITY, INTERNATIONAL ORIENTATION
AND PERSONALISED ADVICE.

Our quality standards

The quality of our products and services is our top priority. In order to consistently fulfil this requirement, we rely on modern production methods, proven and reliable processes and competent employees. We introduced quality management in accordance with ISO 9001 back in 1998. Since then, we have regularly verified this standard through official audits. In 2023, we were also certified to the international environmental management standard ISO 14001 for the first time.

Family-owned company with a global focus

Thanks to our skills in the development, manufacture and distribution of sophisticated adhesive tapes, we have firmly established ourselves on the international market. We work with renowned partners from all over the world and supply important export markets such as the DACH region, Belgium, the Netherlands, Italy, France and other European countries.

Always well advised

Which adhesive tape is best for which application? It takes years of experience to be able to answer this question. For this reason, personalised advice is very important to us. Because we want to offer you the best possible solution right from the start.

Do you have any questions or requests?
